TO DISTANT SUBSCRIBERS.

From and after the first day of January, 1875, under the late act of Congress, the pos tage must be prepaid by us on all papers sent to subscribers out of the county. On all subscriptions paid in advance we will pre pay the postage and forward at our regular rates. As we do not feel disposed to continue the paper to those in arrears, and lose both subscription and postage, we thus give timely notice, that all of the above-mentioned class of subscribers who wish the paper continued after the 1st day of January next, may have abundant time to settle up back dues and pay in advance for another year.

A COURSE OF LECTURES.

We adverted in our last issue to the agita tion of this subject, by some of our citizens who were abundantly able to secure literary entertainment of the highest order, from dis tinguished lecturers, provided their efforts were properly seconded by the community at large. We have no miscellaneous libraries, of any consequence, in the county, and not a single book-store within its limits. We have been developing, recently, very considerable musical and histrionic talent, but in the higher department of letters, we seem to have sunk into Bocotian indifference." Such a literary apathy did not formerly belong to Jefferson county : and we esteem it of the highest importance that the incrustation of ignorance and materialism which is forming upon the young men of our community should be broken and destroyed. Our ladies, also, require some rational and instructive entertainment, and we hope they will manifest an active interest in the scheme now being perfected for a course of lectures this winter. Let the subject be discussed in private circles until a proper appreciation of its importance is awak ened. We have in our own county several gentlemen who have devoted their time and attention to Special Subjects-such as Temperance, Finance, or the Centennial Their several publications and speeches upon these subjects have gained for them national repu tations. They are like prophets - not without honor, save in their own county. We assert that the views of these gentlemen upon their respective specialties, condensed into the com pass of lectures, would command attention any where in the civilized world.

In addition to these, as before suggested. we understand distinguished lecturers from abroad can be prevailed upon to visit us. It our citizens will take an interest in the matter the contemplated scheme will be a success; otherwise a failure. As a basis, and in connection with the proposed lectures, a Lyceum should be organized. For this purpose, we would suggest a meeting of those who feel interested in the enterprise on to-morrow (Wednesday) evening, in the office of Hiram O'Bannon, E-q, if it can be procured, as we presume it can.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The last House of Representatives was nolitically divided as follows: 201 Radicals, 91 Democrats. In the late elections the Demo crats have not only overcome these tremendous odds, but have actually secured a majority of over fifty in the next House of Representatives, a political revolution unprecedented in the history of the country In the Senate there are 74 members, a majority is 38 .-Forty-nine hold over, and the terms of 25 expire the 4th of next March. Of the hold overs, 33 are Republicans and 16 are in opposition. Of the 25 to be elected the Democrats will have one Senator from each of the following States: Connecticut, Maryland, Ohio, Texas, Virginia, Indiana, West Virginia, Delaware, Tennessee, Missouri, New York, Louisiana, New Jersey. and Pennsylvanis, a total of 50, with the possible gain of an opposition Senator in Minnesota, and also in Michigan. These two, with Booth of California, would make 33 opposition Senatorbut five short of a majority Never before was so great a change made in the political complexion of the Senate in a single year. The next House of Representatives will contain at seast one hundred and seventy new members who have never before served in Congress. This proportion is unusual and remarkable and indicates a very radical change, not only in the politics but the personnel of the House

The General Assembly of Virginia meets on the first Wednesday in December. The month of December comes in on Tuesday, and therefore the Legislature meets on the second day of the month. Congress assembles on the following Monday, since its day of meeting is on the first Monday in December

The four leading States in the Grange movement are Iowa, Indiana, Missouri and Illinois, having 1,994, 1,968, 1,929 and 1,489 organizations, respectively.

NO THIRD PARTY.

The able conservative editor of the Lynchburg Virginian, a true son of old Jefferson and in former times an old line Whig of the strictest sort, concludes an article under the above caption with the following sensible re-

"The Democratic party, chastened and ourified, is not what it once was; while the Whig party, to which many of us were fondly attached, and the proud memory of which we still cherish in our hearts, has ceased to exist as a distinct party organization. The Northern Whigs, with a few honorable exceptions, deserted us and went into the Republican camp. Their recreancy dissolved our organization and left us utterly powerless, so that to day, there is no place for a man of moderate views and conservative instincts to stand, in a great national struggle, but with the regenerated Democratic party.

These are the opinions that we honestly entertain, in view of the great interests of the country; and we think that the time has fully come when they ought to be expressed by all men who love country better than party -And so, believing that a third party now is impracticable, and that an attempt to organize one, and go into the great Presidential contest that is before us with three candidates, would be to continue the Radicals in power, we deprecate all attempts of the kind. Let us rather adhere to a liberal Democratic party that will cement and perpetuate the union entered into by all true Conservatives at the late election, and the union of the States. with the rights of the States, and the liberties of the people, may be preserved."

ARKANSAS AFFAIRS.

Notwithstanding that the new Constitution Arkansas was adopted recently by about 75,000 majority, and at the recent elections the Democratic State ticket and a solid delegation to Congress was chosen, one Smith, Lieutenant Governor under Baxter, took upon himself to issue a proclumation, refusing to recognize the Constitution or the elections under it, and declaring himself Governor. This proclamation he published in a paper called The Republican," and having, as usual in such cases, requested the President to send forces to help him maintain himself, took to his heels. Warrants for his arrest and for that of the publisher were issued. The latter was captured, but the former could not be

Bishop Johns, of Virginia, having been asked to express his opinion as to the character and probable effect of the proceedngs of the late General Episcopal Convention, in session in New York, replies that in his judgment the proceedings "vindicate and provide additional facilities for preserving the Protestant character of this Church," and that the action, "so devoutly desired by this Diocese, was completed in a spirit most creditable to a Christian Council, and with a unanimity which gives it great moral as well as canonical authority."

We find in one of our exchanges the following summing up of the places in the gift of the next House of Representatives : General clerkships 24, library of the house 3. document room 8, sergeant-at-arms' office 4, door-keepers 23, House post-office 10, committee clerkships 29, official reporters 5; total 106 Then there are thirteen men emd, ployed in the general library of Congress, but heir appointments must be concurred in by But giving the House seven of Ar The Baltimore Conference, M E Church will be held in Winchester, Va., commencing on the 3d day of March next, and be presided over by Bishop Peck.

And Now About 1876.

The immediate interest in the Congresional results in the November election having passed, the next topic for consideration is as to what the electoral vote is likely to be in 1876. The Baltimore American indulges in some figuring that adds up about like this: Supposing that the States which have already voted this year were to give majorities for the same party in 1876 as they have done now. the Electoral College, so far as they are concerped, would stand as follows:

Democratic. Republicans. 10 Michigan, Alabama, Arkansas. 6 Wisconsin, Delaware, 8 Iowa, 11 South Carolina, Georgia. Kentuckv 12 Rhode Island. Maryland. 8 Vermont, 13 Maine, Massachusetts. Illinois. 21 Nevada, Louisiana. 8 Nebraska. Missouri, 15 Minnesota, 9 Florida, New York, 35 Kansas, Pennsylvania, 12 Total, Tennessee, Texas. Virginia. Ohio. Indiana, North Carolina, Oregon, West Virginia, Total, 264

Thus we see that in the States that have so far voted this year the democrats have on the popular vote carried twenty-one out of thirty-three. These twenty-one have 264 votes in the Electoral College, and if the democrats would hold them in 1876 would elect their candidates on the national ticket. This they probably will not be able to do, but still the prospect is such as to put the republican party on its mettle to recover the ground that has been lost, or be worse defeated. Scientific Exploration of West Virginia.

[Cor. of the Wheeling Register-]

MARTINSBURG, Nov. 14, 1874. Editors of the Register : - As you no doubt feel an interest in whatever may tend to develop, and bring into public notice the resources of this State, it may be gratifying to you to learn that Mr. Faulkner, the Representative elect from the Second Congressional District, is engaged in organizing an expedition for the scientific exploration of West Virginia. The purpose of this expedition is to visit every prominent section of the State, to ascertain, as far as practicable, its mineral deposits, and the means for their transporta tion to market; to make recognizances as to several projected railroads; to view its natural scenery, and places of historical interest; to estimate its advantages of timber; and also the aptitude of its lands for pasturage and tillage, and as sites for manufacturing industry; and to embrace in a volume, from the result of these inquiries, such a view of the advantages and resources of West Virginia as may lead to a more rapid immigration into, and settlement of the State. It is expected that the expedition will leave this place about the 20th of May next, and be engaged about five months in its contemplated examination. It is proposed to engage the services of competent engineers, mineralogists, geologists, a topographer, photographer, &c., &c. It is understood that several gentlemen, distinguished for their scientific and literary acquirements, have already volunteered their services for the expedition, and Mr. Faulkner expresses a confident belief that the expedition will be successfully organized according to his expectations.

Romantic Wedding.

A correspondent of the Wheeling Register, writing from Charleston, W. Va., under date of the 13th inst., gives the following:

A somewhat romantic wedding was solemnized Yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian Church of this place. We are not acquainted with the bride or groom, and only speak from hearsay. We shall only give the nitials of the parties concerned, as otherwise we might give offence. Mr. P., who is a Presbyterian minister, young and handsome, came to our city some two or three weeks since, to make arrangements with Miss W., 10 start on a journey to South America, to which place they were both going as missionaries. -Well, there was nothing very remarkable about that you may say, but the romance is to come. In about one week after the advent of Mr. H., into our midst, it was rumored that the above named parties were to be united in holy matrimony; this afforded food for gossip to all classes, as it was known that Mr. H. had never met Miss W , until his coming to see her on the business already mentioned. To give the surmises indulged in, would take more space than we have, and more time than we could spare to devote to their rehearsal; some thought it a "marriage of convenience," others "love at first sight," and so on, to the end of the chapter. Be this as it may, they were married, as we have already said, yester day forenoon, and will leave for their field o labor next Monday, after bidding their many friends adieu. May success a tend them.

DROWNS HIMSELF TO VER FY A THEO-By .- In England recently, Professor White, champion swimmer, consented to drown himself in order that his theory of resuscitation might be tested for the benefit of the hodist London Humane Society, who were present to witness the experiment. After laying the Southern Methodist Church, he united man in the water he plunged into the river and remained long enough under water to be partially drowned. His son then dived after him and brought him to the surface in an apparently lifeless condition, adhering strictly to the principles laid down by his parent. The breathless body was then turned over to one of the Humane Society's officers and put through the course of treatment recommeded The Society had the satisfaction of seeing Mr. White revive, and in a short time return to the water without unpleasant consequences. thus proving his theory by illustration at the risk of death.

Is it Belle Boyd.

A "Belle Boyd" Gives Atlanta a Sensation.

A lady calling herself Belle Boyd has been lecturing through the country, and is now in Atlanta, where she has afforded a sensation. The editor of the Atlanta News published, on Sunday week, a paragraph denouncing the lady as an imposter. Belle Boyd, he claims, onded her stormy career in a California Lunatic Asylum, two years ago. The article continues:

"The editor of this paper was personally acquainted with Belle Boyd, and yesterday he called upon the lady claiming to be her, and found her to be an entirely different pereon. Belle was a tall woman, with blue eyes and light hair, while the lady in question is short, with black hair and dark eyes, and, un gallantly as it may seem, we are forced to say that she must be at least fifteen years older than Belle Boyd would have been had she been living.

Atlanta is never happy without a sensation. and bright and early on Monday morning the citizens gathered in knots on the street corners confidently expecting the lady to either horsewhip or shoot the ungallant editor. Sure enough Belle Boyd demanded a retraction from Mr. Abrams, the editor of the News, but did not obtain it, and making a motion as if to draw a weapon, was seized by Abrams and turned over to the police. Being searched. she was found armed 'with a derringer with a mouth as big as a flour barrel, and a Smith & Wesson seven shooter.' Mr. Olive Jones. of Atlanta, went on the lady's bond, and she was discharged."

COUNTY ITEMS .- From the Shepherdstown Register of Saturday we clip the following items:

Interesting Meeting .- An interesting meeting has been in progress in the M. E. Church, South, of this town, during the past week Able and eloquent sermons have been delivered by Rev. J. P. Hyde, Principal of Lonoke Female Seminary, of Martinsburg, and Rev. Mr. Miller of the M. E. Church, South, of Martinsburg. Several conversions have taken place, and a great deal of interest has been manifested.

S. V. R. R .- One of our citizens received letter this week from an influential Railroad official, which we have read and which gives first rate news about our Railroad. As we are just going to press we have no time for details, but can assure our readers that an arrangement has been agreed to between "high contracting parties" by which work will soon be resomed upon the road which is to be completed from Hagerstown to Staunton according to the original plan of its projectors.

The Register's Lectown correspondent says The meeting at Zion is still in progress, and the services are of quite an interesting character. On Tuesday night Rev. T. B Sheppard preached a searching sermon on the 'Leprosy of Sin," from the words found in 2 Kings, VII. 3, 4; at its close five persons presented themselves as seekers. Mr. S. preached again on Wednesday night. Rev. Mr. Murray, of Martinsburg, preached on Thursday night, taking "Repentence" for his theme. Mr. Radgers preached on Friday night, and closed the meeting for the week. Sabbath morning and evening the pulpit was occupied by Mr. Shepherd, and at the latter service the church was crowded. The same gentleman preached a good sermon upon the subject of the "Prodigal's Return," on Monday evening. Up to this time there have been seven conversions, and one or two others have asked for prayers. The congregations throughout the meeting have been large, and very good order has prevailed all the time.

10 On last Thursday evening Mr. Strayer Poisal, of this place, while riding along the road leading to Shepherdstown, came up with two men, riding one horse. As soon as they saw Mr. P. approaching, they jumped from the animal and ran. When Mr. P. came up to the horse, he found it dripping with perspiration, and at once concluded that he had been stelen. He fired a shot at the retreating scoundrels, and brought the horse back to the city and had him placed in the Everett House stable. We have since learned that the horse was ridden here by Mr. Morrison, from whom it got away, and is owned by Capt, Jas. W Glenn, of Jefferson county.
